EG-3113 Student News Publications

Secondary school news publications will be produced as an integral part of the school's educational function and curriculum under the direction of a certified staff member advisor to whom this responsibility has been delegated by the building principal. Production of the publications will be governed by the tenets of responsible journalism, existing legislation and current case law. Accountability for all aspects of publication, including content, rests with the assigned staff member advisor and the building principal.

The School District shall provide financial support to the periodic publications sufficient to assure that all students involved have reasonable opportunity to experience significant learning in the field of journalism. The use of advertising by local businesses and agencies to generate revenue for the support of the publications shall be permitted to a limited extent as determined by the staff member advisor and the building principal.

The School District, by and through the assigned staff member advisor and the building principal, shall act as the publisher of all student publications.
